Short description:

Digitalisation of the public sector led to the emergence of e-leadership. COVID-19 global pandemic as crisis-induced situation required municipal administrations to react immediately, to act in more appropriate ways to continue performance under pandemic circumstances. Therefore, ICT usage in the daily routine of the municipal administrations became mandatory. However, the post-pandemic situation of e-leadership in municipal administrations was uncovered. This is why the international group of researchers collaborated to identify how processes and the content of e-leadership has changed in German, Lithuanian and Latvian municipal administrations after pandemic. Researchers will share their insights based on the research results asking for the feedback from participants (academicians, practitioners, interested persons), seeking for the knowledge sharing and discussion of different practices and challenges of e-leadership in municipal administrations in the post-pandemic period.
